FALL 1958

AND THE SOUND OF THE JACKHAMMER,
THE HISS OF THE ARC-WELDER
ARE HEARD NO MORE ON CAMPUS . . .

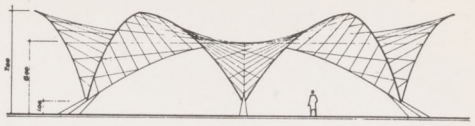
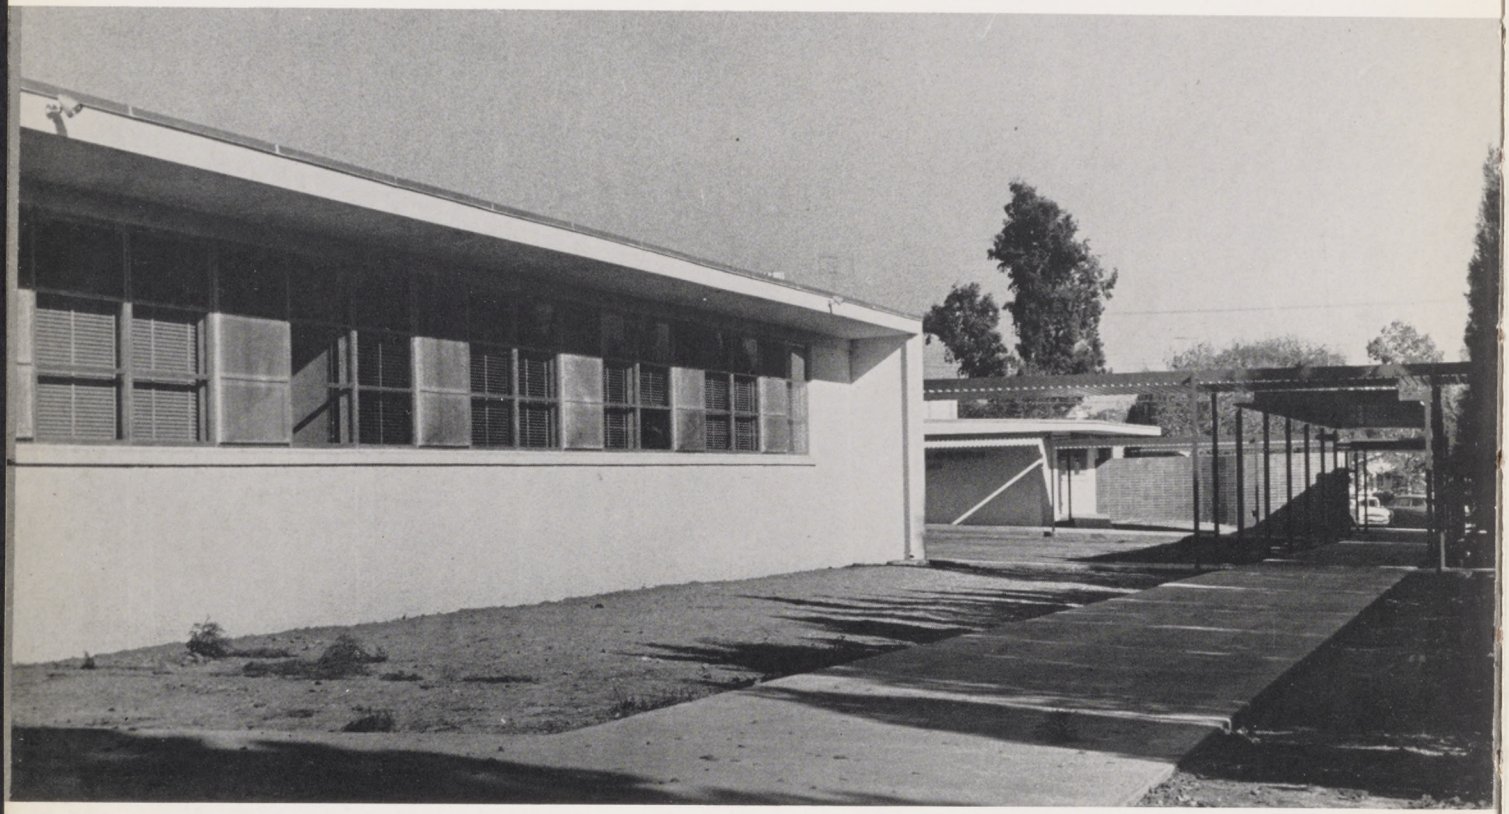
The new six classroom building seen from the east end of the walk-way.

BUT BEHIND THE SERENE FALL FACADE of the Administration building are their indelible imprint, the great changes in the exterior and interior landscapes, new buildings, new vistas, new policies reflecting the "sputnik" spirit of the times.



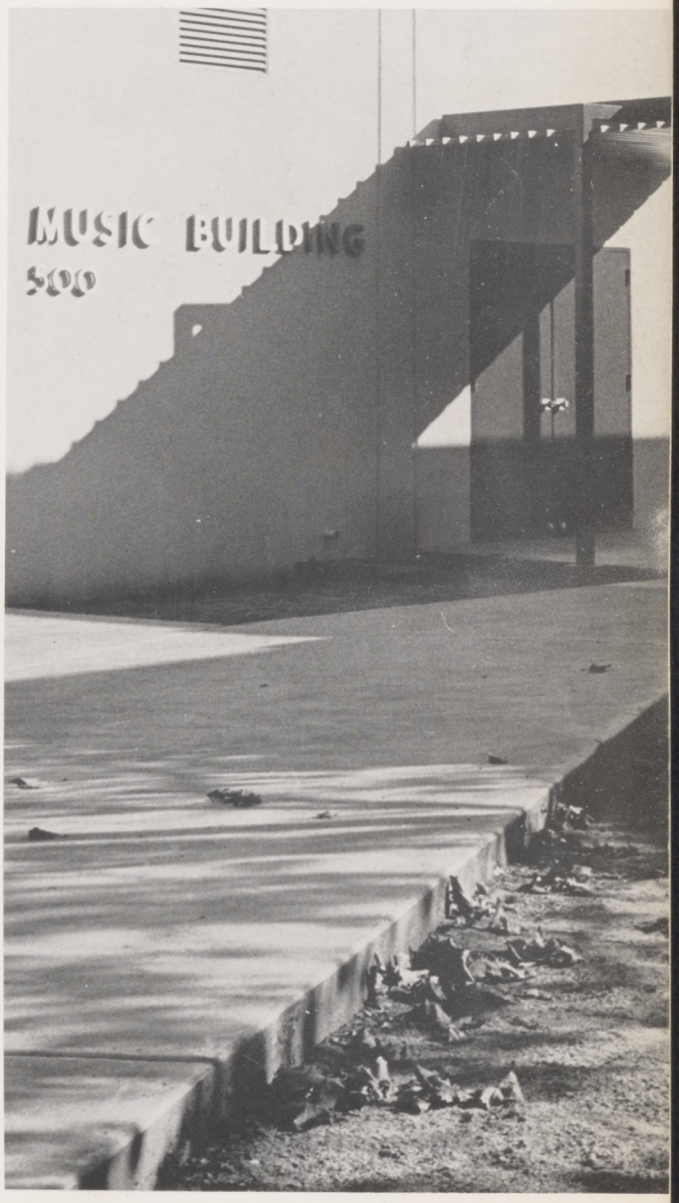
a new landscape on CAMPUS



The cafeteria building, looking northwest from the parking lot.

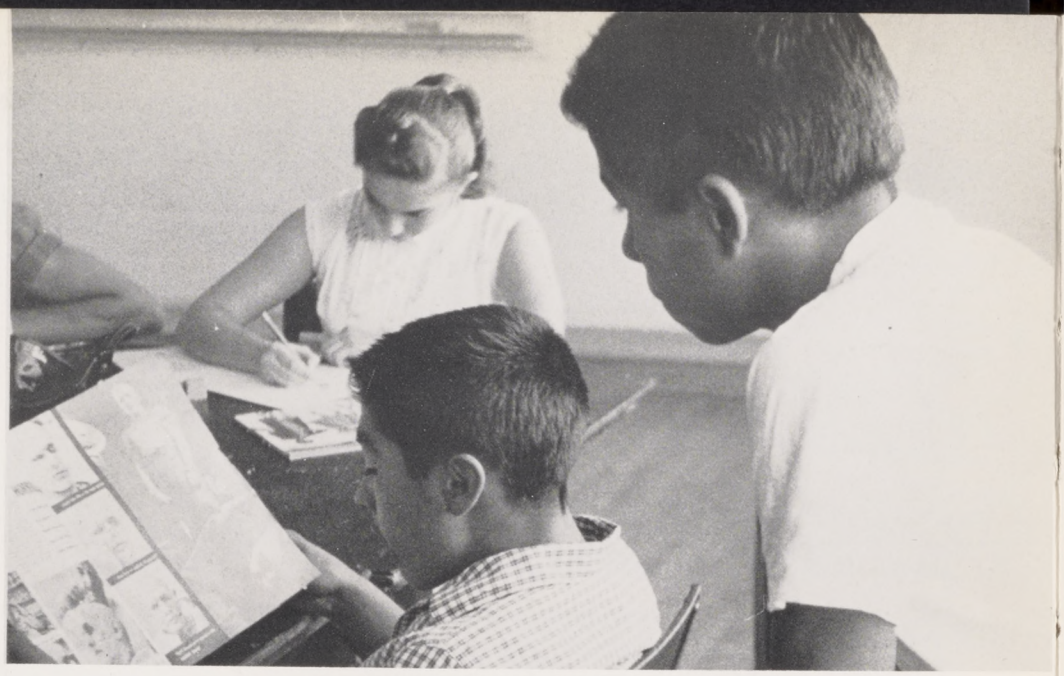
Viewed from the west, the new classrooms, and the cafeteria at the east end of the walkway.

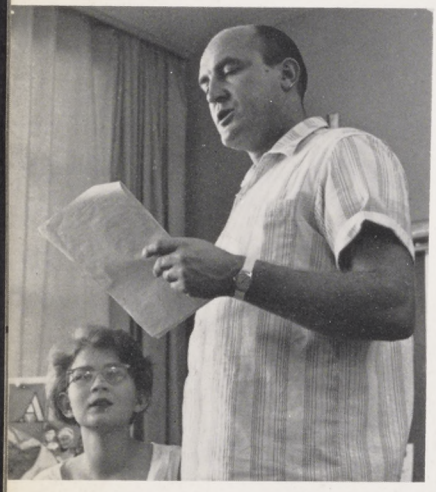
At the east end of the Administration building, stands the new home of Music.



Looking north toward the Athletic field, along the covered walk in front of the cafeteria.

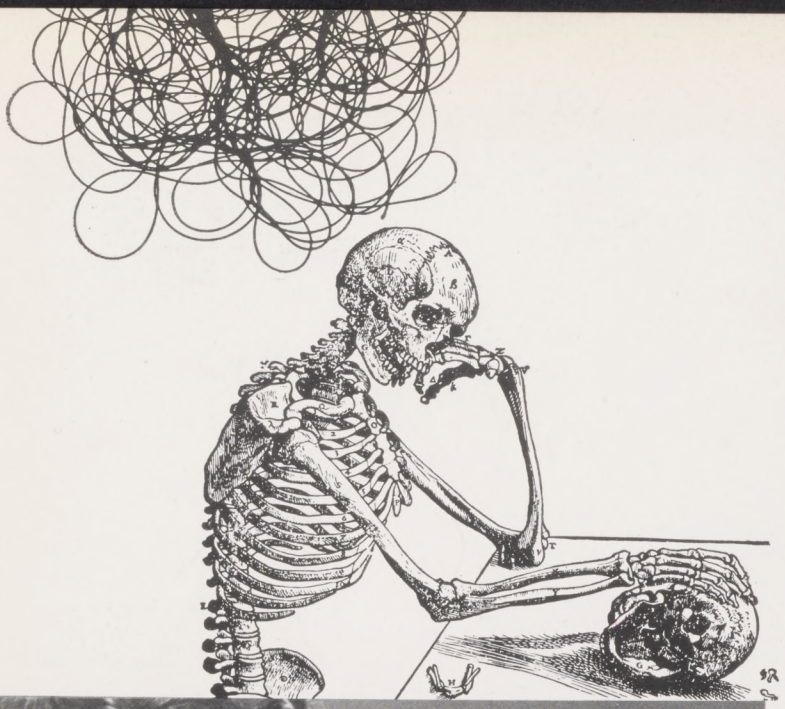
From Social Science, to "skull sessions" at half-time, the instructors work to develop the creative imagination and skills exemplified by the new horizons on campus.

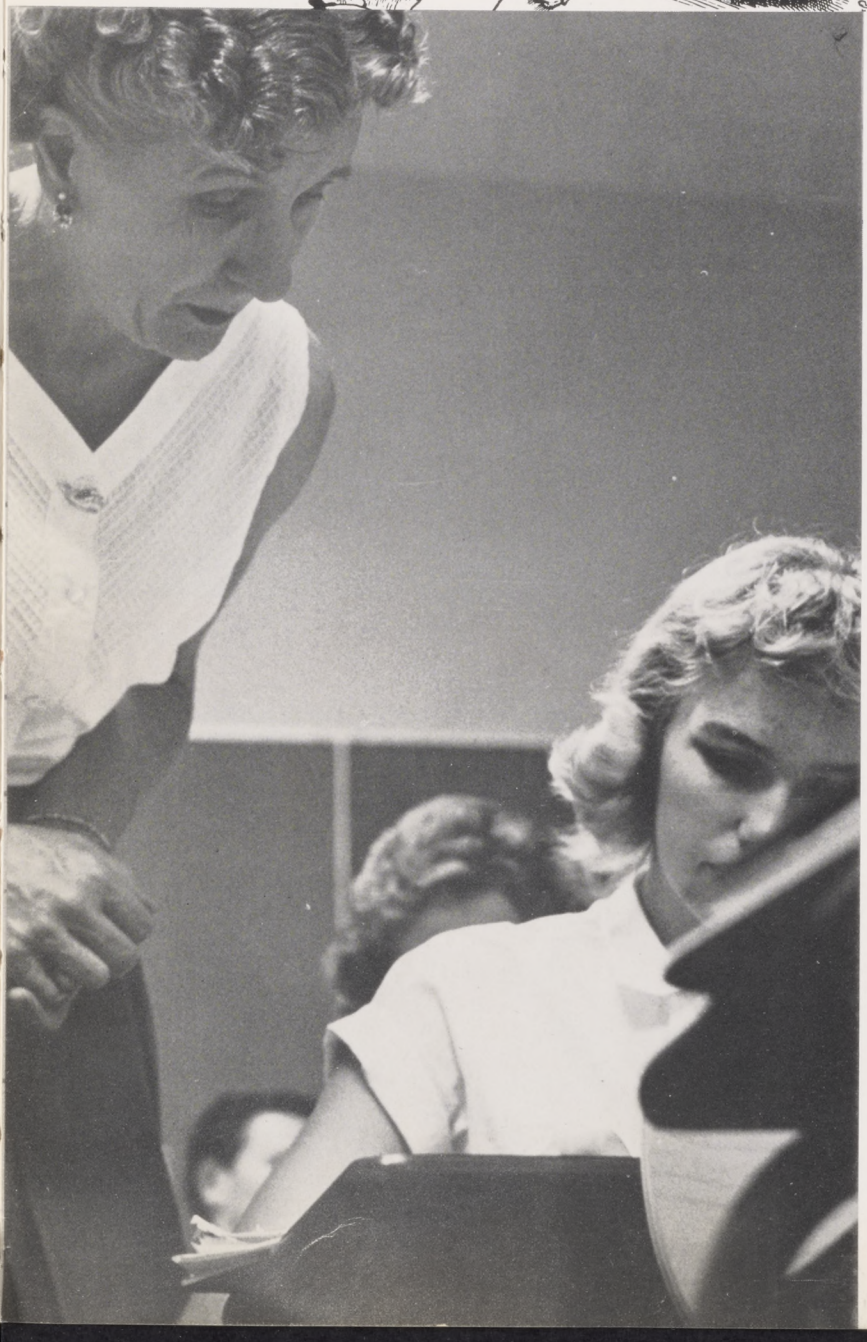




the LANDSCAPE within . . .

In the beginning was the image, then came the word. It's a big job, re-modeling this interior landscape, from picture books to a philosophy of freedom compatible with the democratic ideal. The surface topography is charted, it's the inner terrain must give us pause . . .





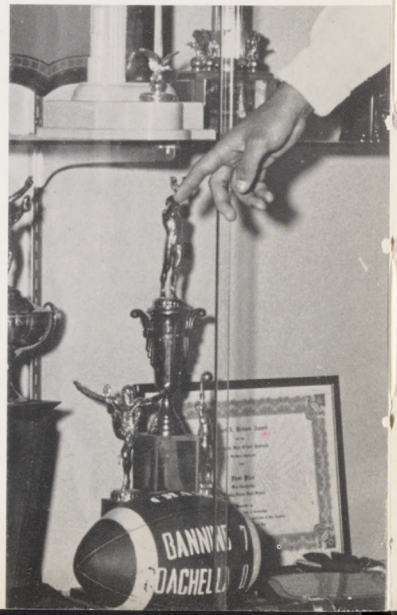
A never-changing thing; this, too, is part of the scenery.

familiar LANDMARKS . . .

in the new landscape. The new look, but still the same old face. The traditional trappings are part and parcel of the terrain to be covered in the four years at Banning Union High. The co-ordinates wouldn't be complete without them.

The first glimpse of those future vistas comes through these doors.

The shape of victories.

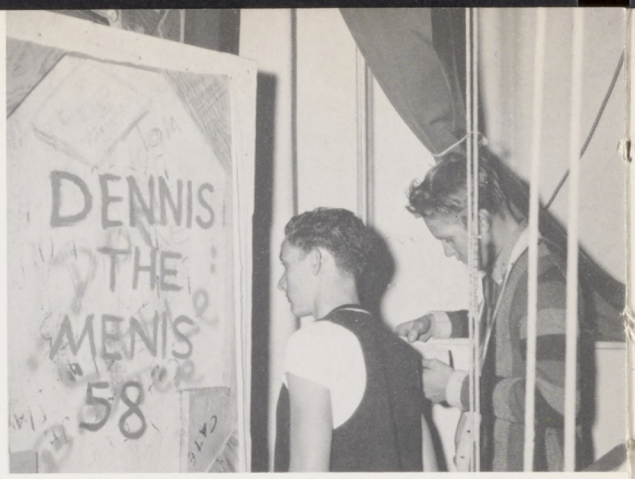


The old sycamores' leafy pattern contrasts vividly with the clean, contemporary line of the new Music building.

The new principal, Mr. Stevens, unpacking new volumes revealing the re-orientation toward an old standby in the curriculum.

Both these landmarks fit into the new landscape. Mr. Quinn (Elmer) long-time custodian, and the gym.

Principal Deweese Stevens, Superintendent E. B. Powell, and student Carol Nelson welcome his honor, Mayor John Raatz, heading a group of visiting citizens.



Lighting technicians and sound-effects men, Chuck Reed and Steve Wages, exhibit a serious mien while awaiting their cues.

"a piece of the CONTINENT

The old familiar landscape contains the contours of the future, too; the rugged aspect, the high plateaus, the individual prominences . . . rough terrain and smooth going too. Perhaps the student council member is the future lady mayor; the Senior play stage-hands, tomorrow's T.V. technicians; and to-day's Home-coming Queen is a prospective Miss America. Mapping this territory is an old challenge to be met by the new explorers.

Bruce Maier and Sandy Edmundson chart a pleasant course around the dance floor.

Rosie Zavala exploring the creative construction.

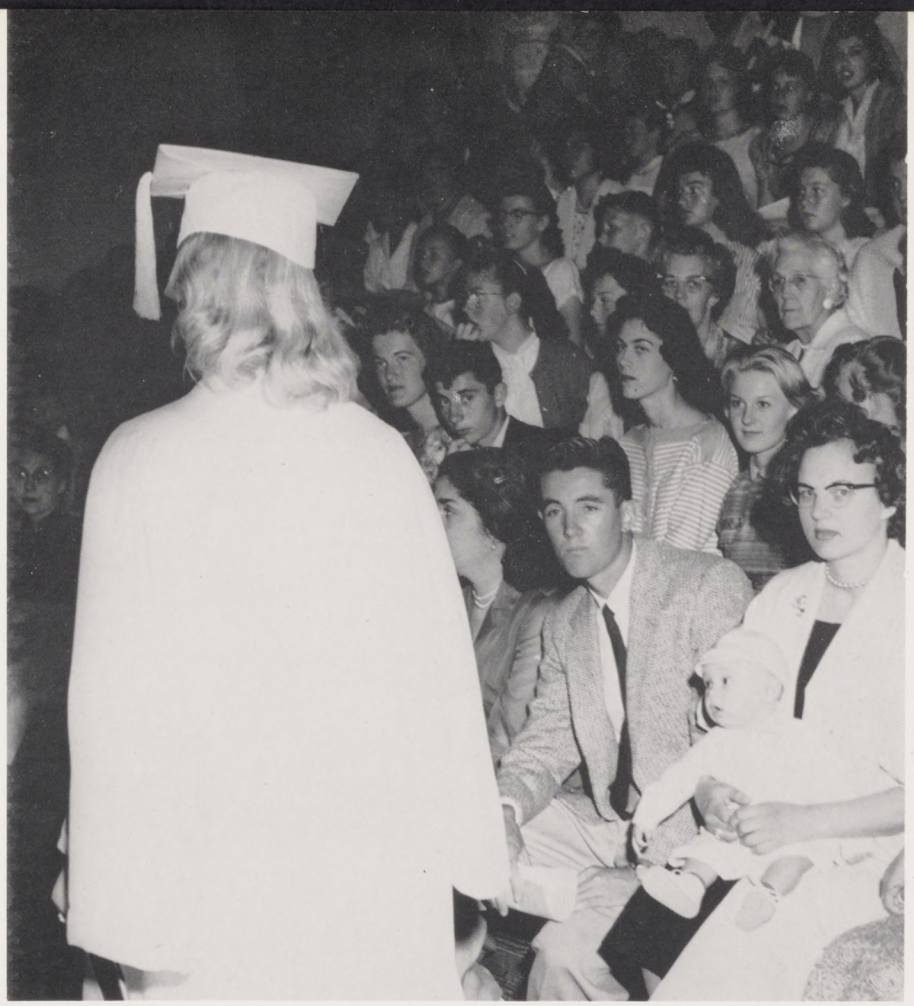
"a part of the MAIN . . ."



The main purpose in exploring these new landscapes finally arrives; the graduating seniors open that last door into the "brave new world" to survey the boundaries.

IN MEMORIAM

W. Irving Crowley
1897-1959

"No man is an island, entire of itself. Every man is a piece of the continent, a part of the main. If a clod be washed away by the sea, Europe is the less, as well as if a promontory were, as well as if a manor of thy friends or of thine own were. Any man's death diminishes me, because I am involved in mankind."

So are we all diminished, family, friends, colleagues, students; all made less by the death of W. Irving Crowley. And yet his legacy is not written on the wind . . . 1897-1959 . . . Not the alloted three score and ten, yet in terms of individual worth and achievement, a life more full and farther reaching than most of us are granted.

Who's Who in American Education lists extensively his achievements, his accomplishments in a 40 year long teaching career. His degrees and his widely varied experience as instructor in languages at the college level were the earmarks of the scholar; his authorship of numerous language publications and texts (some of which were the only ones used in military training schools) was an index of the talent he brought to his profession. To say that he was head of the Foreign Language Department at Lincoln Memorial University, that he authored the first Turkish language text used by the Armed Forces in World War 2, is not a full measure of the man, however. As a teacher he expected much; as a scholar he gave more, to meet the challenge of the times.

The scholar leavened his erudition with a sense of humor and incisive wit that earned the respect of his colleagues and students alike.

Although his Naval service ended in 1918, he never became a noncombatant. W. Irving Crowley was involved in mankind, and through his profession, more actively a participant in the most vital sense. In this cold-war combat for the minds of men, he was truly a part of the main, a significant part of the main endeavour of our time.

Advisors: Mr. Amick, Mrs. Abras, Mr. Peek.

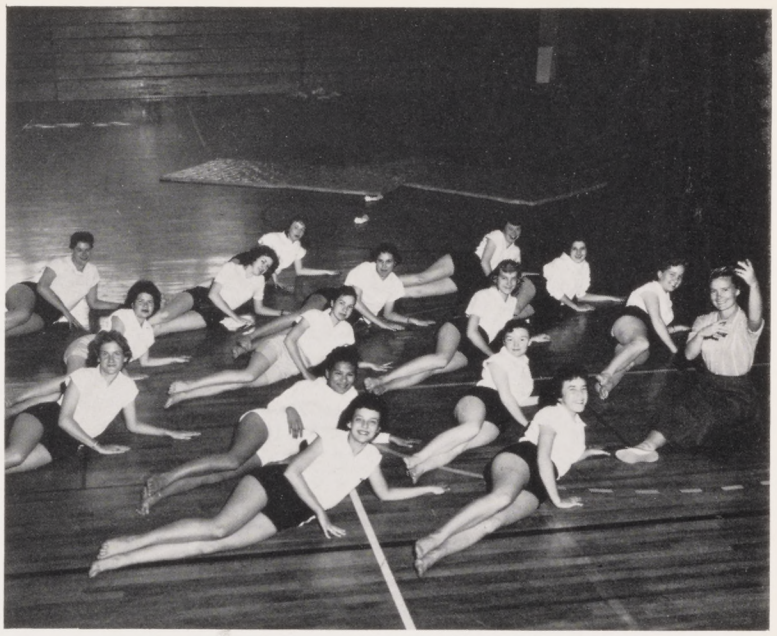
MODERN DANCE

Modern dance is an art form in which the body is used as a medium of communication. A single gesture or a whole dance may evolve from an idea, an attitude, an event, a sound, or a combination of these. It is individualistic . . . a conscious and purposeful means of expression through rhythmical movement of the human body.



Mrs. St. John demonstrates to the girls some of the most important positions and how to do them gracefully.

CHORUS

Under the direction of Mr. Robert Bostwick, the Chorus blend their voices daily, preparing for their various assemblies and their annual Christmas program.

POM - PONS

These vivacious Bronchoettes promote school spirit through drill demonstrations in halftime activities at all home games and in sendoff activities at all out of town games.

L. to R.: B. Diaz, R. Zavala, S. Miller, C. Aday, K. Walker, J. Aday.

MAJORETTES

These are your majorettes, maintaining school spirit by adding to the array of marching activities.

S. Stewart, leader

CHEER LEADERS

Terrific is a swell word for the clever routines our spirited cheerleaders have worked out. The backbone of our school spirit, their enthusiasm rubs off on the entire Student Body at games, pep rallies and assemblies.

Behind their seemingly easy and effortless routine lie hours of practice.

SONG LEADERS

It's hard enough for most people to sing themselves but to keep an entire Student Body on key is really a job! But a job well done by our talented song-leaders.

Their tricky routines are the product of long hours of practice and make the task of combining some voices into something harmonious a much easier one.

GIRLS' LEAGUE

The interests and needs of girls determine its form, its purpose, and its activities. It represents the girls as a corporate group. The league aims to give every girl a sense of "belonging"; with a resulting sense of security developed to a large extent by activities such as the annual Spinsters' Dance and the Mother-Daughter Banquet.

Junior and Senior members of the Girls' League.

These are the boys and girls who make up the Scholarship Society. They keep their grades up to B's and better. B.U.H.S. is very proud of them.

SCHOLARSHIP

The purpose of the Scholarship society shall be to encourage a high standard of scholarship and general attainment, on the part of students of the secondary schools of California.

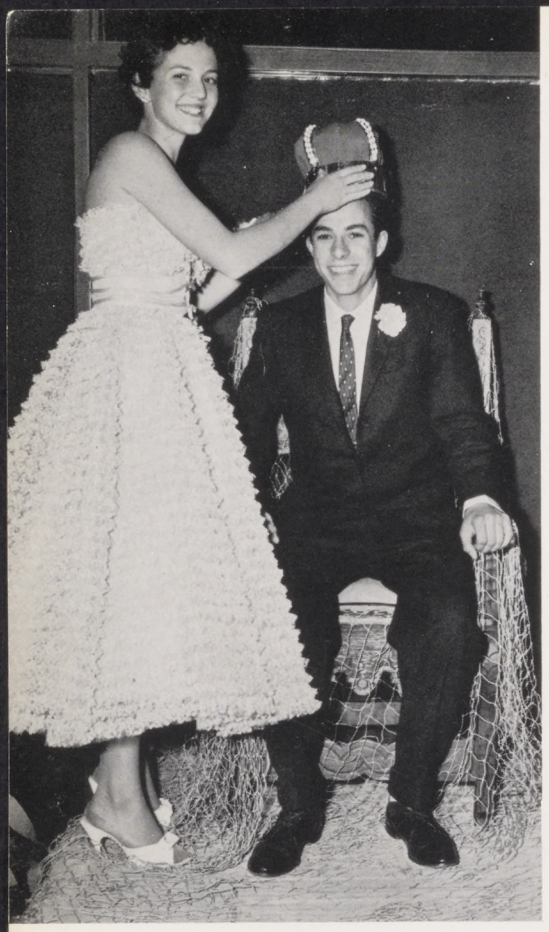
DANCES



Long Live King Lee

I thought I fixed that once before

Oh! The smell of beautiful flowers, the music of a swell band, and YOU!

The Bronco dance band adds their musical talent to the show.

TALENT PARADE

The Sophomores give the B.U.H.S. students a chance to show what talents they have by featuring them in the Annual Sophomore Talent Parade. Talents like singing, mimicking, pantomiming, and playing a musical instrument are what make up the fun-packed show.

Lee and George play another one of their well-liked hits.

Sandy, Sharon, Dora, and Diane bring back the spirit of the roaring 20's.

Here are the Juniors who did such a good job in "Uncertain Wings" in full costume.

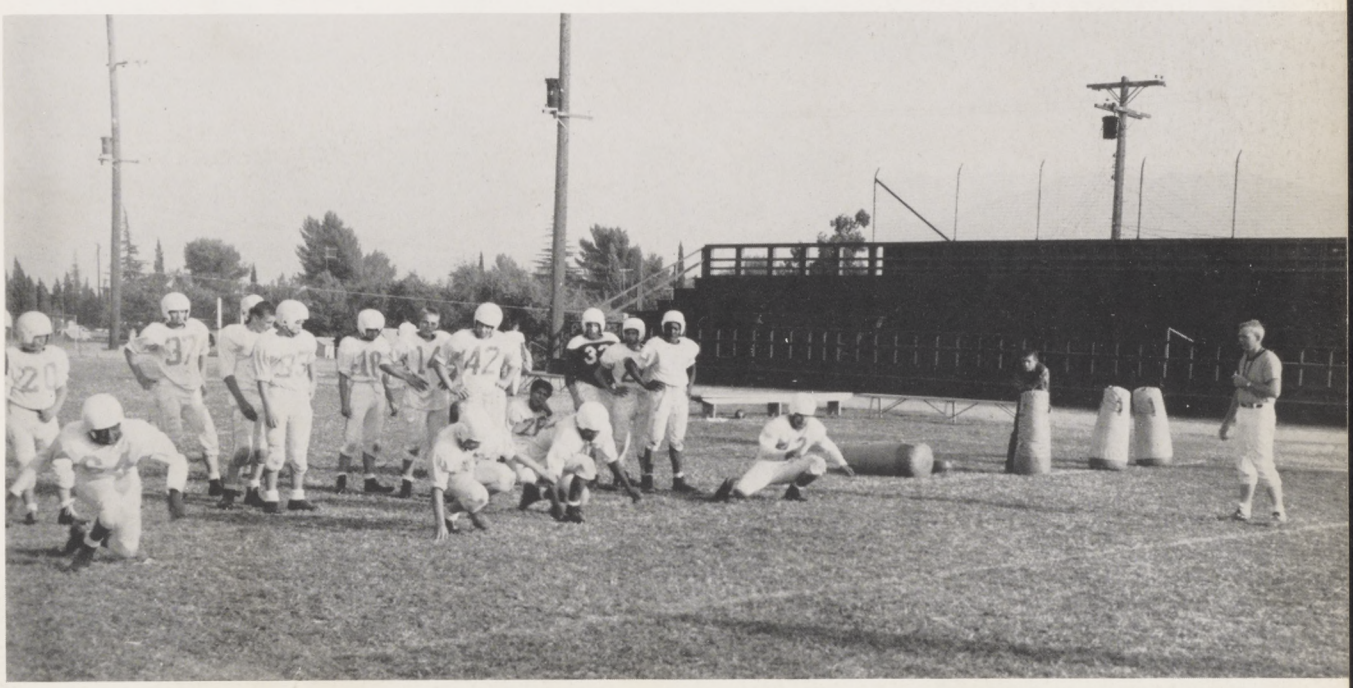
Coaches Burk and Brown go over details of next victory.



It takes long hard hours of practice till the team gets into shape.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

The Broncs presented a thrilling season this year by winning their Block B tourney for the third time then by taking the Riverside County League championship. These sharp-shooting hoopsters lost only one game in R.C.L. and continued to startle their opponents with their skill in C.I.F.

This is how we get a high ranking wrestling team; practice after school.

Bottom row, L. to R.: R. Weise, G. Beach, B. Gilmore, L. Nielson, J. Munoy, K. Breitweg. Second row, L. to R.: J. Harvey, P. Weis, D. Dysart, D. Merrill, L. Russo, J. Gambrall, J. Marquardt, L. The headless high-jumper goes it feet first.

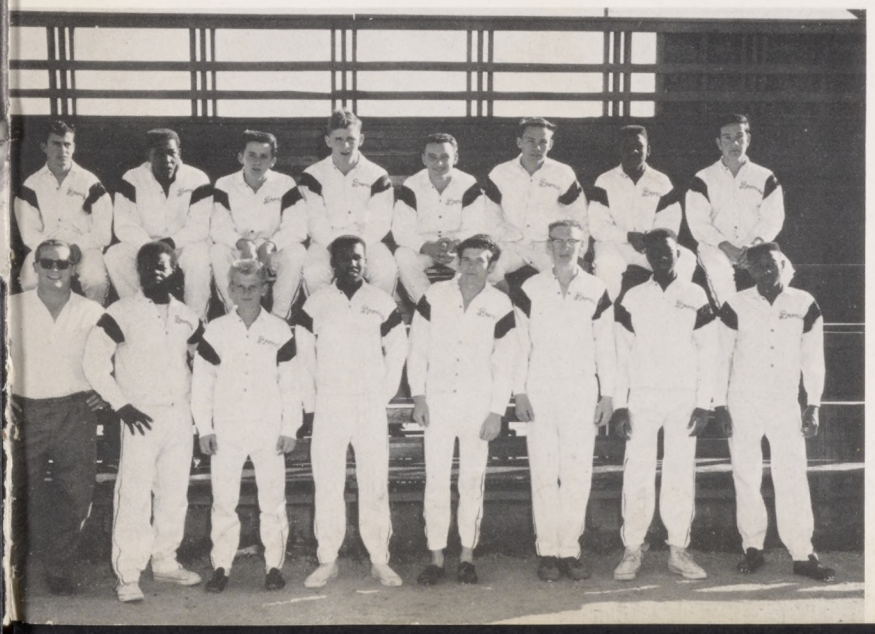
Warren is suspended — in midair, that is.

TRACK

The oldest athletic sport, the play day of the specialist, is the track meet. The hours spent, the muscles sore, are an insignificant price for victory.

Top row, L. to R.: A. Leeper, E. Swait, T. Garner, G. Keeton, C. Reed, P. Beach, T. Warren, E. Linton. Second row, L. to R.: Mr. Sisk, H. Wallace, L. Neilsen, D. Brown, D. Foster, P. Alloway, P. Starling, A. Evans. Camera shy: T. Snodgrass.



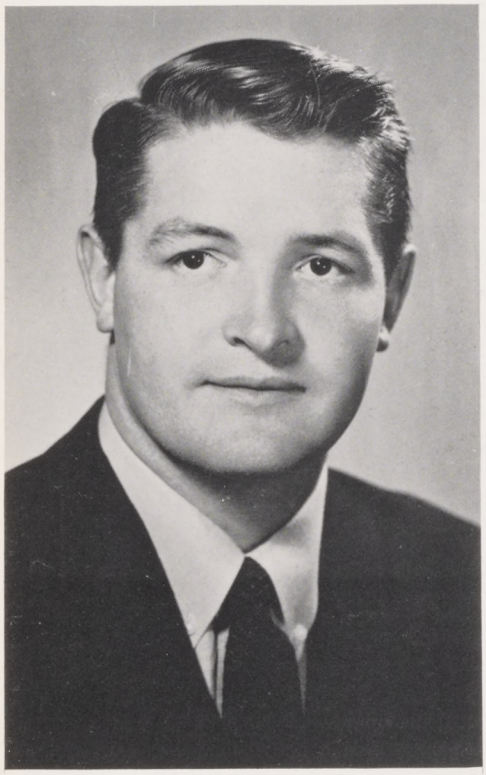
Keeton jumps the hurdles skillfully.

Which one of these 4 stars is running for the plate????

L. to R.: Coach Art Linden, R. Robertson, R. Castro, G. Jeffus, T. Counts, D. Peterson, T. Lyons, G. Hirst, B. Stonebreaker. Bottom row, L. to R., L. Kettering, T. Pelonis, L. Russo, P. Alloway, K. Campbell, R. Horstman, P. Beach, E. Swait, D. Roberts.

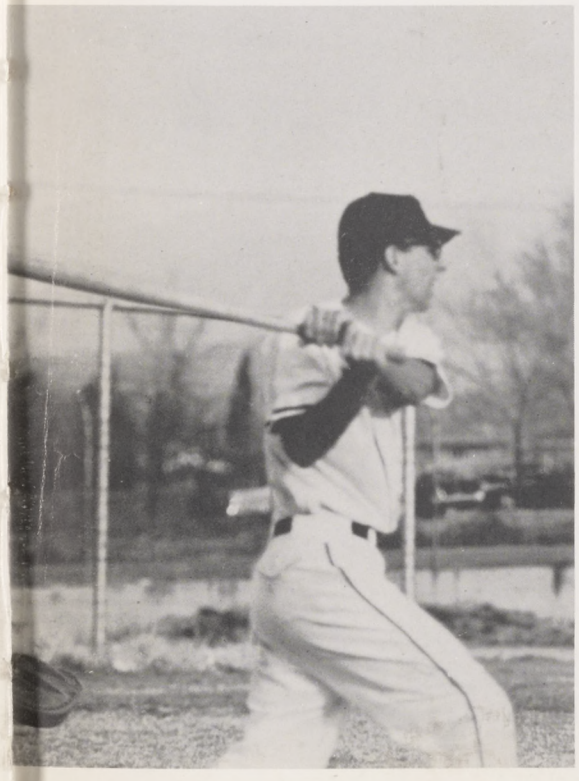
BASEBALL

The hopes of the Bronco baseball nine rest upon the shoulders of numerous underclassmen. This year's team is somewhat green but a top division finisher is probable under the lead of 4 year Coach Art Linden.



Coach Linden

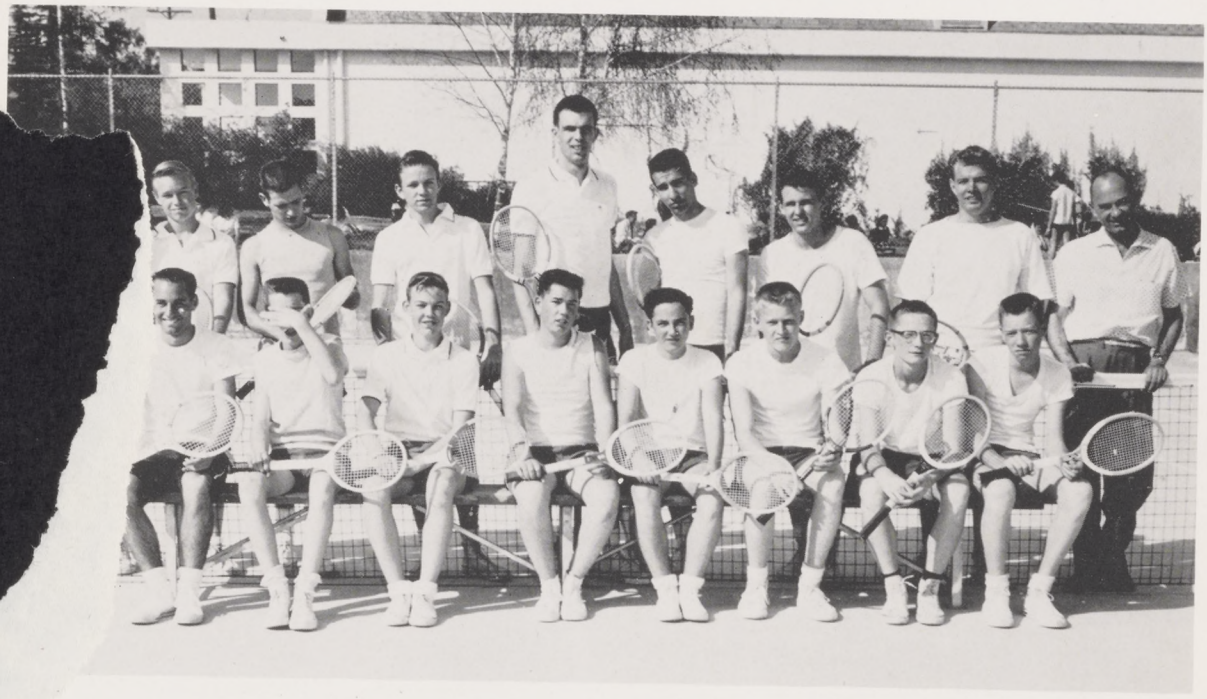
Slinger Kettering slams a big one.



It's a race between number 9 and the ball.

BOYS' TENNIS

Standing, L. to R.: E. Miller, E. Switzer, K. Campbell, T. Wages, B. Meier, L. Kettering, A. Meier, J. Timmel, Mr. Crum.
Sitting, L. to R.: J. Foster, J. Maple, R. Hartsfield, L. Pellerin, M. Keller, G. Grantham, R. Horstman, T. Tetzlaff.



That determined look.

A terrific forehand smash.

GIRLS' TENNIS
